PERSONAL DATA

As defined in Art. 4 no. 1 GDPR, personal data are any and all information relating to an identified or identifiable natural person (“data subject”). An identifiable natural person is one who can be identified, directly or indirectly, in particular by reference to an identifier such as a name, an identification number, location data, an online identifier or to one or more factors specific to the physical, physiological, genetic, mental, economic, cultural or social identity of that natural person.

Personal data are therefore any and all data that personally relate to you such as name, address, email address or phone number.

COLLECTION AND STORAGE OF PERSONAL DATA AND THE NATURE AND PURPOSE OF THEIR USE

Insofar as you provide us with personal data, whether orally, in writing, by using our contact form or by email, they are processed in compliance with the requirements of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and national data protection regulations. Without the processing of personal data such as

- personal identifying information (first name and surname, position, function, date of birth, address),
- your professional or personal contact data/the contact data of your employer (phone numbers (landline/mobile), email address, fax number),
- order and contract data,
- or other information that we have received from you, it is not possible for us to process your request, to perform a contract that has been concluded with you or to comply with legal obligations.

We also process data that we have legally obtained from third parties insofar, and to the extent that, this processing is necessary for one of the purposes stated below. Third parties in this sense may be (among others) other companies, publicly accessible sources such as the Commercial Register or other registers, records of debtors, the internet, registry offices or credit agencies.

The purposes for the processing of your personal data include:

- The establishment and performance of contracts with you or with your employer and the taking of initial steps for the conclusion of a contract (point (b) of Art. 6 (1) GDPR);
- Compliance with legal obligations, e.g. relating to taxes (point (c) of Art. 6 (1) GDPR).

Point (f) of Art. 6 (1) GDPR can also be the legal basis for processing. For instance, in the pursuit of our legitimate interests, we process your personal data for the establishment of claims, for insurance policies (especially commercial credit insurance) or for the conduct of a credit check.<sup>1</sup>

We do not use at all any fully automated decision-making processes in the sense of Art. 22 GDPR nor do we carry out profiling.

TRANSFER OF DATA

Your personal data are not transferred to third parties for any purposes other than those specified below or in a scope greater than that required for the purposes. We transfer your personal data to third parties solely if and when:

- You have given your express consent to the transfer in accordance with point (a) of Art. 6 (1) GDPR;
- It is necessary in accordance with point (b) of Art. 6 (1) GDPR for the performance of contracts with you;
- It is related to a legal obligation to transfer the data in accordance with point (c) of Art. 6 (1) GDPR; or
- The transfer is necessary pursuant to point (f) of Art. 6 (1) GDPR and there is no reason to assume that you have an overriding legitimate interest in the non-transfer of your data.

Third parties may be in particular:

- Affiliated companies: It may be necessary to transfer your personal data to affiliated companies within our group so that your queries and contractual matters can be processed. This is the case, for example, if your query concerns a company within our group that is different from the one to which you originally sent your query. The data are transferred on the basis of point (f) of Art. 6 (1) GDPR and solely insofar as the transfer is required for business reasons.
